MORE NEW RURAL ROUTES

Two More Rural Routes Probable
—Postal Savings Bank to Come Soon.

Mrs. Kate Nelson our progressive post mistress stated today that the Post office inspector was here Monday perfecting arrangements to install a postal savings bank about the 22nd instant.

She is now expecting the necessary supplies this week.

For some time Mrs. Nelson has been writing the post office department urging the establishment of two more rural routes out of Snyder and the official, while here yesterday went out and inspected the south district of the Henry neighborhood, south of town and it is expected that a route through that community and one out toward Dermott and serving the A. M. McPherson neighborhood will be authorized and established in the near future.

These two routes will make 5 out of Snyder and will prove convenient to thickly settled districts.

Thimble Club Organized.

The West Side Thimble Club was organized Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. R. Welch with the following officers: Mrs. J. R. Welch, President; Mrs. Earnest Grimes, Vice President; Mrs. Gus Eubank, Secretary and Treas.; Mrs. Olin Hardy, Reporter.

Ike Boren was up in Kent Co., a few days ago and he says they have the best feed crop there he ever saw. Ike had built a new barn here in which to store his rents and a few weeks ago he thought he wouldn't need it, but now he says it is not large enough to hold them.

bales under the new law and why the law requires tare weights to be placed on the bale, and what method was best in buying seed that would be equally fair and equitable to both ginner and farmer and what rightful proportions did the seed bear to the weight of the seed cotton, the cost of coal, and should the ginners furdere to say that such report is untrue and that no such effort was made. The facts are that a meeting at which most of the ginners of Scurry county were present, the questions discussed were bagging and ties, marking cotton nish a hand to assist at the auction and should all bales weighing over six hundred pounds be charged $1.00 per bale extra in order to prevent as much as possible trouble from putting up such big bales. These were the questions discussed and there was never a proposal from anyone to put the ginning at $1.00 per hundred. JOHN A. STAVELEY, O. F. DABBY, J. WRIGHT MOORE, WARREN SCHIVNER, E. S. Congressman Randall ought to take a tumble. While he was already an avowed candidate for the senate from Texas, when the news of Senator Bailey's contemplated retirement came, and the people began expressing their preference for his successor, Mr. Randall hardly received even mention as a probable candidate. Nobody seems to take his candidacy seriously.—Ennis Local. Nor has he up to now.

Up to Wednesday night the Farmers' Union gin had turned out 182 bales and 10 on the yard; at noon Thursday the Briece Burnett gin had 236 with seven on the yard to be ginned.
